HOW TO LEARN THE PIANO.

THIS instrument was originally called the Piano-Forte, because one could play on it piano, or soft, or forte, which means loud. On the earlier instruments, the Harpsichord, Spinet, &c., there was no variation in the power of tone.

Of course, the best way to learn any instrument is to secure the services of a faithful teacher; but, that accomplished, it is for the interest of both teacher and learner to have the best of instructors.

Richardson's New Method for the Pianoforte.

PRICE, $3.25.

Leads the van, as it has for many years. It is not pretended that it is the only good book. It was, however, the first published of any good American Instruction Book, was at once, on its issue, received with the greatest favor, and became the book for universal use. The publishers were wise enough to have it revised and re-revised, whenever an error could be discovered, or any improvement made. It is probably more free from typographical errors than any other music book of the kind. There have been added to it, at various times, "Czerny's letters," and Schumann's "advice," both very useful and suggestive.

Mason and Hoadley's System for Beginners.

PRICE, $3.25

BY WM. MASON AND E. S. HOADLEY,

Is a notable book. Mr. Mason is one o. the best of American players and teachers, and Mr. Hoadley has had an eminently practical experience with pupils. A work prepared with care by two such men, is surely worth examination by teachers, who are just commencing anew to tread the weary way with a "new beginner."

The following books are all first-class, largely used, and highly recommended. Good teachers will not be satisfied without a careful looking through of all, with a view to selection.

New England Conservatory Method for the Pianoforte.

IN 3 PARTS, $1.50 EACH, OR COMPLETE, $3.25.

This is used in the great Conservatory here mentioned.

Peters' Eclectic Instructor.

PRICE, $3.25.

BY W. C. PETERS.

The original publishers reckons up a sale of 250,000 copies. Can there be a stronger recommendation?

Clarke's New Method for the Pianoforte.

PRICE, $3.25.

BY HUGH A. CLARKE.

This is a book that pleases at sight, and has met the approval of the best judges.

Easy books for amateurs, are

CLARKE'S DOLLAR INSTRUCTOR FOR THE PIANO.
By WM. H. CLARKE.

WINNER'S NEW SCHOOL FOR PIANO. 75 CENTS.

BELLAK'S ANALYTICAL METHOD. 75 CENTS.

When one is somewhat advanced on the pages of a good instruction book, it is proper to commence a book of exercises or of studies. Nothing better can be provided than Mason's Pianoforte Technics.

PRICE, $2.50.

BY WM. MASON AND W. S. B. MATHEWS.

In this truly practical work, we have all the exercises requisite to develop the dexterity of mind and finger. Equally good for young artists and for advanced players.

The works here described are but a few out of about SEVENTY-FIVE Piano Instruction books, published by Ditson & Co. For the rest, please consult catalogue, or examine the books themselves at one of the stores of Ditson & Co., in Boston, New York or Philadelphia.

ORGAN AND REED ORGAN.

As the improved Reed Organ is at present so extensively used in church services, it is understood that real organ book music may be played on them as well as on the Pipe Organ.

A few of the best instructors are here given; and there are many others.

Clarke's New Method for Reed Organ.

PRICE, $2.50.

This book on its first issue, almost immediately took a rank among Reed Organ Methods, analagous to that of Richardson's among Piano Instructors. It has a steady and large sale, and is a safe and good book to buy.

Clarke's Harmonic School for the Organ.

PRICE, $3.00.

By WM. HORATIO CLARKE.

An admirable book; well worth playing, as well as studying. It is intended for those who can already, to some extent, play the Church Organ, and need to be instructed in the mysteries of extemporizing voluntaries and interludes. The author of the book has a very decided talent as an extemporizer, and has done his best, in this book, to teach others to do the same. In so doing, he imparts considerable knowledge of Harmony, which is instilled, as one might say, through the fingers while practising.

Aside from its instructive value, the Harmonic School is well worth its price as a collection of good organ music.

Johnson's New Method for Thorough Base.

PRICE, $1.00.

By A. N. JOHNSON.

Everything relating to playing Hymn Tunes, Anthems, Sunday School Songs, Glee and Part Music, and in general, all music where more than one part is sung at once, is taught in the simplest, easiest and yet the most thorough way in JOHNSON'S NEW METHOD FOR THOROUGH BASE. Those who practice its lessons faithfully are prepared to play church music on the Pipe Organ, Reed Organ, or Piano.

Parlor Organ Instruction Book,

PRICE, $1.50.

By A. N. JOHNSON,

Is just the book that is needed for beginners. Teachers said, "we need a book for those who wish to learn to play in two or three quarters, who wish to learn light music, as Waltzes, Marches, Polkas, &c., and Sunday School Music and Songs,—and, in fact, all kinds of easy and popular 'singing or playing music' that pleases the 'Old Folks at Home'; these old folks being the ones who pay the bills. The book must be easy, and must teach all these things."

THE PARLOR ORGAN INSTRUCTION BOOK fills the bill completely.

Notice that the above book is for a special, though very large class. Other books for a general knowledge of the Reed Organ, which books contain good instructions, and large and well arranged collections of good and well arranged pieces, vocal and instrumental, to be played on the instrument, are

THE EMERSON METHOD FOR REED ORGAN.
PRICE, $2.50.

ROOT'S SCHOOL FOR CABINET ORGAN.
PRICE, $2.50.

GETZE'S SCHOOL FOR PARLOR ORGAN.
PRICE, $2.50.

These books have sold tremendously, and there is no doubt about their merit.
